After All, Why Not?

THE famous English Grand National Steeplechase is over, and with its finish ends (for this year) the equally famous Irish Sweepstakes. The running of this event once again brings to the fore the question of the legalizing of sweepstakes in Canada. Each year at this time the Government and institutions of Canada cast covetous eyes on the enormous sums realized by the Dublin hospitals which sponsor the renowned Irish pool.

Citizens of Canada split on the question of the legalizing in this country of sweepstakes. Those against the practice stick to the morality side of the issue, holding forth that for a Government to legalize and abet the practice of gambling is a bad influence on the country. On the other side of the fence are those who favor the issue; those who argue that each year millions of Canadians succumb to the lure of easy money, regardless of what the Government might say or do; the claim is made this money will continue to leave Canada annually to swell the coffers of Irish hospitals, and that, by legalizing sweepstakes in this country, these sums would be diverted from Erin to Canada. By making sweepstakes lawful, those in favor of the idea point out, the Government can benefit through the placing of an enormous tax on the proceeds without increasing the odds against winning, which are reputed to be 50,000 to 1 in the Irish pool. Through the collection of this tax, they argue, taxpayers of Canada would benefit indirectly.

The reasoning seems sound enough, so why not legalize this practice (which is going to continue regardless of laws) in such a way that Government supervision will minimize the chance of graft and crookedness?

Muddling Through

(From The Financier)

IT MIGHT be well for those who find themselves critical of England's foreign policies at this time to remember that England has always succeeded in "muddling through." It might also be well to remember that the "muddling through" process has always seen England land right side up—right side up not only to her own advantage but to that of the world at large as well.

In the Mother of Parliaments, as in all other places where politicians foregather to dilute the quality of statesmanship, there are always those whose principal function is the making of loud noises. These are not the honest critics, but the group that speaks merely for the purpose of making its voice heard. Examination will show that it is that group that has been most vocal during the past ten days.

Is it reasonable to suppose that the Prime Minister of Great Britain now proposes to sacrifice all that Aldion holds dear on the altar of some European "ism." Who is there who will believe that Neville Chamberlain has suddenly become overruled by the fuelers and the duces who strut within the confines of their own countries and would like to strut beyond?

England may muddle, but there is science in the way she muddles, and the results speak for themselves.

Hoping For The Best

SOUTHERN Saskatchewan farmers are once again looking forward with optimism to the harvest of 1938. Seven years of prolonged drought have tried their fortitude, but the residents of this famous Canadian dust bowl have come back each year for more. This year moisture is reported to be far in excess of that of previous drought year springs. Jubilantly the farmers watch the small creeks, streams and swamps fill with moisture that has been absent during the past ten days.

There is no doubt that Southern Saskatchewan can come back, and there is no doubt but that the return of our sister province to a better financial condition will in return help Canada as a whole. For the past seven years the Dominion Government has been forced to expend millions of public money in the dust bowl to enable the farmers there to live. With Southern Saskatchewan once more taking its place as the granary of the Empire, this money may be expended by the governments of Canada and Saskatchewan on more concrete and constructive works.

A good crop in Southern Saskatchewan will be reflected all through Canada. The small drop in wheat prices which would result from a 400 million bushel crop in this district would not begin to offset the advantages which we, as Canadians, would receive through the revival of Southern Saskatchewan. Meanwhile, Canada sits back and watches, hoping with the farmers of these drought stricken sections for a crop, which is the only salvation of Southern Saskatchewan.

Through the Eyes of a Country Woman

By BRIDGET

The last two weeks we have let our thoughts wander across Europe, and around the situation in the whole of the Eastern Hemisphere. Perhaps this week, therefore, we should turn our thoughts back to ourselves—not that the European situation is much better—I fear it is just the hell before a storm. The Nations of Europe appear to me to be exactly like a bunch of cats, sitting quietly but ready to spring, silently waiting for a wee mouse to make a wrong movement. Poor mouse—what he will precipitate if and when he does make a movement this way or that—any way which can be interpreted as incorrect.

I was very interested to hear and see by means of the film, "The March of Time," United States high officials giving out interviews saying how important it was not to antagonize either China or Japan, as their trade was so important to America. It might mean a complete loss of a certain line of exports. In effect, they said, we will try and look after our own nationals, if they will only be sensible and get out of the war zone, but we mustn't hurt any of the other nations' feelings.

So once again we have proof that in this time and age, material gain and profit are more important than human souls. Back we come again to the roots of all evil, the present necessity of keeping the money-making machine well oiled and in order. However, we have our own troubles in Alberta, and sometimes it seems dangerous and altogether too depressing to think what the future holds for this fine western Province.

We do have our little bits of comedy—surely the "reporter incident" read rather like a page from "Alice in Wonderland," the whole of the Legislative Assembly debating earnestly the quality of mercy. From the highest to the "newly-released-from-jail" Mr. Uawin, it was moved and seconded, discussed and supported and what not that the Edmonton Journal reporter be free from jail. It was lovely to see what beautiful thoughts emanated from all the gentlemen collected together. But the joke was, apparently the reporter was visiting in a friend's house; he never was in jail, and further, a warrant had never been signed for his arrest. They might call ever so loudly for his head on a charger, but they hadn't even the right to collect his body—what a glorious musical farce Gilbert and Sullivan could have made of this incident.

We farmers also have to worry over the proposed "production tax" of which at present no details are given. Of course the money has to come from somewhere—it does not grow on bushes, so the logical thing seems to be in this Province, tax the farmer. He produces the wealth of the Province—he should help others! As the majority of the farmers in this Province are in debt, this tax will have to be a dividend in reverse, I think!

We farm women at this time are busy preparing to raise flocks of birds against the Spring, for no matter what is happening around we have to put the nation the forces which will create more food for us and others—more wealth!

Altogether the prospect does not look too rosy, so I am going to pass on a thought I read this week, penned by that brilliant young man, Beverly Nichols. He points out that some people will thank God for their health, some for their strength, their beauty, their position, their wealth, their families, etc., etc., but seldom if ever do you hear of anyone thanking God for their memories. (I fancy that very popular, up-to-the-moment tune, "Thanks for the Memory," has not yet arrived in poor old backward England). However, let us seriously examine the thought—it is really worth it. We can lose our money, our jobs, our pride, our loved ones can be taken from us. There is nothing of which we may not be robbed, nothing is safe, except the treasure we lay up for ourselves in our own hearts, the treasure of our memories. We are rich as long as we can hold our memories—that is the only safe thing—yet we do not hear people thanking God for the gift of memory. What richness is stored in the minds of most ordinary individuals! One of the most poignant memories is that of a bereaved parent looking down on the dead body of his child and saying, "No one can know what happiness this child gave us." The very bitterness of parting must have been softened by memories so precious and beautiful.

When everything around us is in such a chaotic state, we can keep our sweet sanity, perhaps, by concentrating on the memory we lay up for love itself is memory, memory is the very cement of love, for it can make the most ordinary, everyday scenes things of rare beauty never to be forgotten if shared by our loved ones.

In the twilight of life, memory holds together aging couples as nothing else could. They do not see each other as two rather ordinary middle-aged people, their memories clothe them in the garb of youth and they retrace the paths they knew, hand in hand, girl and boy again.

In closing let us spare a thought for those poor unfortunates who have lost their memories—for then life is truly over—but let us, rich with this priceless gift, go on a daring if full of beautiful memories which will repay us 100 per cent in the year to come, so when we are thanking our Creator for the many wonderful gifts He has bestowed on us, let us not forget to include our thanks for the greatest gift of all—our memories.

TOO MANY GUESTS

Little Willie had stayed to dinner at the neighbor's house. "You didn't expect to have so many people to dinner, did you?" he asked the host. "Did a little bird tell you?" "Yes, the little piece of chicken on my plate."

A BRITISH FUN

Cook: "Why did the penny stamp?" Kneec: "Because the thr'penny bit!"

"Cook-ee"

(Helper in a Rocky Mountain lumber camp writes to her chum in the city).

By VIOLA MACDONALD

Rocky Mountain Lumber Camp, Jan. 8, 1938.

Dear Naomi—Well, this is the day after the dance— we went after all—Cook, Alice and I along with about 15 lumber jacks from our camp drove over in one of the logging sleighs with nothing but rough planks to sit on, and did we bounce about—Alice and I had to hang onto each other to keep from being thrown clean off the sled.

The dancing had started long before we arrived and as far as a half mile away we could hear the rhythmic pounding of the lumberjacks' boots on the floor. And what a mob—men from four other camps and only a dozen women—mostly lumberjacks' wives. The new bride was there, gowned in lovely white satin—her wedding dress, and you can imagine how out of place it looked among those lumberjacks, whose only preparation for a dance is to shake the saw-dust out of their ears and fill up the old tobacco pouch.

There were so many more men than girls that when they danced quadrilles, half of the "Jacks" tied handkerchiefs about their arms—they were the "adies," and how their partners "swung the birdies!" The music was produced on a wheezy organ, two violins and a guitar—all operated by relays when one musician played out, another took his place and they carried on.

Think the star performer—a middle-aged Swede—long and lanky—jerked his head violently to and fro, in time to his fiddling and at all and the same time, made dead ringers of tobacco juice on the nail—behind the organ. As the music's speed increased, this maestro, key to crescendo, raised his arm until the tobacco juice was making bull's eyes on the nails on the wall—higher and more elaborate according to the intricacies of the music.

In another corner of the room a bunch of poker-faced men hands held trest over a card table, where a changed backs faster than diplomats at the League of Nations.

There were no signs of liquor at the dance—I had half expected there might be—from reports of former functions held there, but I understand it was due to orders from the Boss that no "moonshine" would be tolerated because ladies were expected to attend rather than have their heads red as the party to a strictly stag affair they had dispensed with all liquid refreshments.

At midnight, however, there were sandwiches and cake . . . served with coffee made in a wash-boiler. Cook ate with Harry and I had the distinction of having my supper with a white shirt on—only one thing, and did I feel important—that is until Alice told me on the way home that my white-collar friend was really wolf in sheep's clothing; the bootlegger's son.

Lots more about the dance later. —ANNE.

Annual Curlers' Ball Held at Rimby

RIMBEY.—The seventeenth annual Curlers' Ball was held in Rimby on Wednesday, March 17, with close to 200 people attending. It was a great success and fully upheld the standard set in years gone by. The hall was artistically decorated with St. Patrick emblems and lighted with strings of festive-colored lights. Loyds of Blindman furnished the music.

Delicious refreshments were served at midnight by the lady curlers, after which dancing continued until the early morning hours. Winners in the consolation were announced during the supper interval by Master of Ceremonies Sig. Stolee.

STYLE CONSCIOUS

In some parts of the South the Negroes still lean to the old-style country dance.

At one dance, when the fiddlers had resigned their bows and taken their places on the platform, the M.C. rose.

"Git yo' partners fo' de nex' dance," he yelled. "All you ladies an' stockin' take yo' places in de middle of de room. All you ladies an' gentlemen dat wear shoes an' no stockin' take yo' places behin' dem. An' yo' barefooted crowd, you jes' 'git 'em in de corners."

Walla Walla, Washington, is one of the oldest cities in that State.

Do You Know?

A. SAUNDERS,

30-year-old resident of the Sunny Crest District, and a continuous resident of that community since 1902? Born in Ontario in July, 1878, Mr. Saunders was educated in that province. When 13 years of age, he left school to work for his dad, J. H. Sawmill in West Lacombe. For the next 30 years, Mr. Saunders was engaged in this lumber business, operating a constantly expanding concern. He had 25 men employed there, before leaving Ontario in 1902 to come to Lacombe.

Mr. Saunders homesteaded a quarter section nine miles west town the first year he was here and also purchased a half section of C.P.R. land in 1902—land which he still cultivates.

He owned and operated the first steam threshing machine in that vicinity, and for the purpose of handling the heavy machine from one farm to another, many miles of the roads in the Sunny Crest District were built in the country style of the old days.

Mr. Saunders was married in Ontario before the turn of the century, and he remarried in 1901 when his first wife died. He has eight children living in this district: Mrs. Herb Pool, Mrs. D. Smith, Mrs. W. Swanson, Mrs. L. Morier, and Leslie, Absalom, Howard and Albert.

Rimby Girls Do Well in Musical Examinations

RIMBEY.—Rimby has become consistently more music conscious during the past few years with an ever-increasing number of students and a higher average obtained. This year, tops was attained when a class of six teen age girls who wrote the Toronto Conservatory Grade II Theoretical Examination on Feb. 19 obtained 100 per cent in all honors. Their individual marks were:

Muriel Watts, 97; Mary Genette, 96; Edna Roper, 95; Mary Huston, 95; Patsy Johnston, 94; Audrey Catler, 89. Lillian Langmuir passed the History IV, examination with honors (72). Margaret Binben passed Counterpoint IV, with honors (71) and Form V, with honors (70). Elsie Grinde passed Form V, (67) and History V, (68).

All were pupils of Mrs. D. H. Kennedy, A.T.C.M.

POLICE OFFICE ENLARGED

A new police office has been built alongside the fire hall. The cell is now installed inside the office proper, and the room has been enlarged to allow the installation, Newman and Son were the contractors for the job.

BORROWING AT THE BANK to meet increased demand

Retail Stores, subject to the caprices of style and taste, frequently find it necessary to buy certain goods which have caught the fancy of the shoppers, despite the shelves and windows full of necessities, staple supplies. Borrowing to meet present demand for "specialties" is constructive borrowing, because it serves to please and hold customers for the "staples," increasing profits.

Wholesale Houses, dependent upon retailers' orders for popular goods, often have to place increased orders with the manufacturer. Borrowing to pay for such immediately salable goods is "good business"—increases profits.

Manufacturers, called upon to increase their output of popular goods, must buy new supplies of raw material, more workers. To meet the increased demand, they too may borrow—and increase their profits.

The Bank of Montreal welcomes applications for loans with such constructive objects.

Don Davis is slowly improving from his recent illness. Carl Gusek has been sowing up the wood pile. Harry Wright has been clearing seed around the district. Mr. X. has not taken any more pigs to Blackfalds lately. Jack Mills has purchased a farm four miles west ofacombe, but will not move out this season.

Chas. McDougall left to spend a business week in Calgary on Sunday.

Mrs. Colebrook, one of the standouts against the mumps, expects to be herself again. She has been up and around now for a few days.

The Bebekah's of Alx are sponsoring a show at the Tees Hall on April 1st called "His Uncle's Niece." This should be pretty good, as the cast are all well known for their abilities at being real artists.

Mrs. D. B. McMillan spent the week-end in Edmonton, leaving the girls to batch and look after Miss Putnam.

Tees Tattle Tales

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ferguson, Mrs. T. Harris and Earl Barnes all left Monday to spend a short vacation in British Columbia's interior, where they hope to see some of the fruit trees come out in blossom before they return to attend spring-farming operations at home.

Last Saturday evening and well into the night a birthday party was in progress at the home of Ken McDougall, in honor of Miss Mary Heller's anniversary. Cards were indulged in before the big spread of good things was served and prizes distributed to Miss Elsie Cunningham, first, and Miss Catherine McMillan, second. A real enjoyable time was had, as no boys had been invited to spoil the evening.

Vandalism is rampant in town Saturday evening after the Red and White store closed for the night, vandals smeared mud over all the windows and plastered the front of the building. Evidently someone wishes to receive free board and lodging by the old mudder route.

Jack Marshall, a young stockman of the district, is taking in the Calgary Spring Stock Show and Bull Sale this week.

Japanese chemists are attempting to make rayon from husks of the soy bean.

Blackfalds

(From Our Own Correspondent)

BLACKFALDS.—Another hilarious evening was passed at the Pool Hall last Friday night, when a whist drive and dance was held. It was supposed to have been a Hard Times affair, but so few turned out in costume that it was decided to give two prizes for the highest scores in whist, instead of awarding the prizes for the costumes. The prize winners were therefore: Ladies' first, Miss Ina Peterson; second, Mrs. E. G. Hale; Men's first, Duncan McNichol, and second, Jack Wilson.

After the cards, more visitors drifted in and the company settled down to music and dancing to music provided by Vance Capron and his friend John, with violin and guitar, and Mr. Tolson on drums which he had brought from Red Deer for the occasion. Songs were also given by Mrs. and Joyce Mair, Doris Russell and Jim Toller, and the party broke up after 4 a.m.

Rumor began to buzz through the village early last week when someone heard Bert McAlister inviting a friend to come and see his twins, but they turned out to be twin Holstein calves, and they are strong, healthy ones too, of which Bert might well be proud.

An old familiar face may now be seen around the garage, for George Ross took charge of it last week, for the time being, with Lloyd Frizell, from Lacombe as his mechanical assistant.

Building New Warehouse. John Eagen started building his new warehouse last week and has made rapid strides toward bringing it to completion.

The Misses Mabel and Gertrude Martin were visitors in Edmonton over the week-end, and report that brother Chester is getting along very well. Miss Smith also took advantage of the week-end to visit her parents in Edmonton. The mumps have now caught up to us after being around us for some time past. At present there is only one case in the village, and it is hoped that they will not spread.

Ashley Goodwin, brother of Irwin, and a former station agent of Blackfalds, is now the station agent at Eckshaw. Miss Elsie Walker, who recently graduated from the Holy Cross Hospital, seems to be having a busy time in private practice. She was recently called to Banff to nurse Mr. Duncan, editor of the Banff Crag and Canyon, who unfortunately died after a motor accident.

Mrs. Wadley, her two sons and Mr. and Mrs. Barnes motored to Olds over the week-end to take in the exhibition of work at the School of Agriculture, where Morris Barnes is a student.

Olaf Larson is renovating the residence on the fox farm.

Former Resident Dies. News from Calgary reports the death there of Mr. Bailey, who at one time farmed northeast of the village. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Biron, and a son, Willie; his wife and son George predeceased him.

Last Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Roberts held a successful auction at their home in Pat Miller's farm, where they have been living since the departure of Pat Miller for the States. Some good prices were realized on the sale. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left on Saturday for Manitoba by car. There he expects to take charge of the farm of Mrs. Roberts' mother.

The Red Deer Health Clinic visited the school last Friday and barely found time to examine the pre-school children and pupils in the junior room. They expect to return to examine the other pupils some time early next month.

The W.W. are to meet at the home of Mrs. Stephenson next Thursday and are arranging an all-day quilting bee.

Police Court

A fine of $10 and costs each were imposed on C. L. Hoppus, H. D. Gerry and H. Williams, Clive, when they appeared before Magistrate E. H. Jones on Friday morning on a charge of holding an auction sale without being in possession of the current year's auctioneer's license. Each man pleaded guilty and all agreed to procure a license. Constable C. Mosier prosecuted.

J. Connor of Moose Jaw, Sask., also appeared before Magistrate Jones at the same court session and was fined $20 and costs on each of two charges. He was charged with issuing prescriptions without being in possession of a veterinary's license. Corp. Mathieson of the R.C.M.P., Red Deer detachment, prosecuted.

The Natchez Indians named the month of February "Chestnut Moon."

Editor, Western Globe:
Dear Sir,—In a letter written by Mr. N. A. Larsen to the members of the Central Alberta Dairy Pool in a recent issue of your paper, he writes as follows:

"You have dropped some $18,000 buying and handling butter from various creameries," etc.

I would appreciate your publishing the following facts in connection therewith:

As a member of the Creameries referred to above, known as the Sunny Alberta Creameries Ltd., I cannot reconcile this loss with the Balance Sheet and Profit and Loss Statement of the Sunny Alberta Creameries, issued as at August 30, 1937.

The arrangement between the Central Alberta Dairy Pool and the Sunny Alberta Creameries Ltd. was a matter of the former providing storage space and the necessary finances for butter consigned to the latter. All the butter was sold at the highest market price, and the Central Alberta Dairy Pool was to have the preference. All incidentals, such as salaries, insurance, storage, etc., in connection with the handling of the butter were paid by Sunny Alberta Creameries out of a fund created by a levy of 1/2 cent per pound on butter handled by them. According to the financial statement of the Sunny Alberta Creameries Ltd., this deduction of 1/2 cent proved to be sufficient to cover all expenses incidental to the business, including excess advances to some creameries. In view of this fact, the loss was not sustained by the Central Alberta Dairy Pool but by the Sunny Alberta Creameries themselves.

Why this loss appears on the Balance Sheet of the Central Alberta Dairy Pool is by virtue of the assignment to the Pool by the Directors of Sunny Alberta Creameries of the loss incurred by the Sunny Alberta Creameries, but for what reason is a mystery which is yet to be cleared up. Yours truly,

W. C. BACHOR.

Clive, Alberta.

The regular monthly meeting of the U.F.W.A. was well attended last Wednesday, when Mr. Ramsay of the Dominion Experimental Station spoke to the ladies. He gave a very informative talk, and was most patient in answering their many and varied questions. It was decided to exchange slips and seeds at the next meeting, April 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes, accompanied by Mrs. Waddy of Blackfalds and her son, motored to Olds to attend "Achievement Day," Morris Turner, headmaster of the Agricultural College there and Mrs. Barnes was able to return with a lovely cedar chest which her son had made.

Miss Dorothy Rice is going north this week to spend a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Morley Bradley.

Mrs. L. I. Young is now the possessor of a new Pontiac car. What a pity the storm broke just now. This district is shortly to lose two of its respected old timers Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Southward and family, who are moving to the Peace River district, and are a veterinary's license. Corp. 7. We can ill spare such good neighbors and old tried friends. Last Sunday Mrs. Rice entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. Brathwaite, Mrs. Laura Young and Jeimer Johnson.

Friends of O. R. Johnston, smith, of Bentley, are congratulating him on his good fortune in drawing a horse in the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes. The horse he drew was a starter in the race but failed to finish. At that Mr. Johnston gets a nice "one egg."

"Business in Toronto Humming"—Minkler

(From Our Own Correspondent)
"Conditions in Toronto are humming," stated L. P. Minkler, who returned from a 15-day trip to Eastern Canada recently. "It's been 26 years since I've been back to Toronto," reflected Mr. Minkler, "and the changes to be seen amazed me. Places and streets which were once looked upon as away out of the city have now been assimilated into the very center of town."

"The most interesting building I saw," said Mr. Minkler, "I saw the Toronto Maple Leafs play the Montreal Canadiens, and although I played a bit of hockey myself years ago and have seen most of the games in this town, I felt as though I'd never seen a hockey game in my life. I'd pick Harvey Jackson as the outstanding player on the Toronto team, with Aurel Joliat the pick of the Canadian players," he remarked.

"Business seems to be exceedingly good in Toronto proper, with business men looking optimistically to the future."

Mr. Minkler, replying to a query, remarked that the plains and wheat fields of Southern Saskatchewan looked forlorn and bare.

Any diner: "There's a fly in my soup. What does it mean?"
Waitress: "Sorry, sir, I'm a waitress—not a fortune-teller."
